Language and Communication Skills are improved by considering the gender sensitivity topic. Gender sensitization is the process of making people more aware of the issues surrounding gender equality. It aids individuals in considering their own attitudes and beliefs as well as challenging the realities of both sexes. People who have undergone gender sensitization have a better understanding of the differences between sexes, how gender is socially produced, and gender stereotypes. It aids individuals in distinguishing between stereotypes and valid gender-related assumptions. The purpose of gender sensitization is to educate working professionals about the value of gender sensitivity in the workplace. An individual may fail to comprehend the requirements of the other gender if they are not sensitive to the demands of that gender. Gender is socially learned behavior based on what is expected of men and women in society. The most vulnerable groups are mothers and children.

Topics Covered:

- Understanding Gender
- Gender Roles and Relations
- Gender and Labour
- Gender Based Violence
- Gender and Culture

Leadership education is a part of higher education. Future leaders are greatly influenced by the principles and virtues taught in universities. Numerous institutions of higher learning excel in academic areas, have environmentally friendly campuses with a variety of ethics courses, actively participate in community engagement, and are skilled at teaching value orientation to all stakeholders. Everyone agrees that raising the status of the teaching profession is necessary to preserve its honour and integrity. As a result, it is seen important that there exist a code of ethics for the teaching community, which may be developed by the teaching community itself. The work of a teacher falls into five main categories of professional endeavours. Certain concepts have been defined to act as guidelines for each of these areas. Values that are fundamental to being a person are referred to as basic human values. Truth, honesty, loyalty, love, peace, and other virtues are seen as essential human values because they highlight the underlying goodness of individuals and society as a whole.

Topics Covered:

- Introduction
- Human Values
- Importance of Human Values
- Need for Professional Ethics

Families that coexist in a relationship of mutual fulfilment make up a decent society. Such a community would work toward a shared, compassionate objective that can be stated as... happiness in each person through right understanding and right thought, wealth for every family through production of more than required physical facility by way of labour, using cyclic and mutually enriching natural processes Insouciance in society through clarity and practise of justice in human- human relationshipcoexistence in nature/existence by guaranteeing that all activities are in accordance with the fundamental rules of existence. The secret is to foster right knowledge and right thought in each person through humane education, and of course, to live appropriately.

Topics Covered:

- The need for developing a holistic perspective of life
- The scope of life – individual, family, society and nature/existence
- Strengthening self-reflection
- To develop more confidence and commitment to understand, learn and act accordingly
